

444 Murry Hill Circle ♦ Lancaster, PA 17601

(717) 519-1200 ♦ fax (717) 519-1255

info@NextStepTA.com ♦ www.NextStepTA.com

Press Release

Contact Information:

Linda J. Bell

(717) 569-7081

Lancaster, PA—January 26, 2004—NextStep Technology Advisors, the Information Technology Consulting Division of Simon Lever LLP, Certified Public Accountants and Business Advisors, is pleased to announce that Kevin C. Page has received his ThinPrint Master Certification. This certification designates Page as a proven specialist in the field of server-based printing.

According to Amir Friedman, Partner in Charge, "Page's new certification adds NextStep Technology Advisors to an elite group of companies designated as Certified Channel Partners for ThinPrint." "Only five of ThinPrint's 75 U.S. Channel Partners are certified. We are pleased to be part of this exclusive group," said Friedman.

In order to obtain ThinPrint Master Certification, Page attended a two-day technical training program that included analysis, planning, and implementation of printing concepts in server-based environments. In addition, Page received extensive training on the Windows printing process, and the special challenges associated with terminal server architecture.

NextStep Technology Advisors specialize in Business Management Software including MAS 90 and MAS 200, and Network Services. NextStep Technology Advisors is a Microsoft Certified Partner and a Citrix Solution Network Partner.

About ThinPrint:

ThinPrint GmbH is the world's leading provider of software-based solutions for optimal transmission of print jobs and information in server and web-based environments as well as mobile and phone computing. ThinPrint software solutions are marketed in more than 45 countries through a partnership network of more than 200 renowned distributors and resellers. The company's corporate headquarters are in Berlin, Germany with U.S. operations based in New Orleans, Louisiana.

About NextStep Technology Advisors:

Headquartered in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, NextStep has been providing business technology services to clients in South-Central Pennsylvania since 1986. Business management software solutions, including general accounting, distribution, manufacturing and e-business systems, are based primarily on the MAS 90 product line from Best Software, Inc. This software, used by over 80,000 organizations and recognized as a leader in its market, addresses the needs of small and mid-sized companies in many industries. NextStep is authorized and certified by Best Software for: MAS 90, MAS 200 SQL & Client/Server, e-Business Manager and Data-Migrator, and holds a Certified Trainer status. NextStep also offers networking and other technology consulting services, and is a Microsoft Certified Partner, ThinPrint Certified Channel Partner, and a Citrix Authorized Reseller.